

St. Cloud, MN Youth Coordinator

Part-time position

Total project stipend of $2000

Duration of project: February – November 2010

The National Asian Pacific American Women's Forum (NAPAWF) is the nation's only progressive, multi-issue organization dedicated to social justice and human rights for Asian and Pacific Islander (API) women and girls. With national staff in three offices and volunteer-led chapters in eleven cities, NAPAWF is building a movement of social change. NAPAWF's St. Cloud chapter seeks to continue its work with API young women in 2010 and seeks a dynamic person to lead our youth development efforts.

Position Summary: The Teen Coordinator will work with a core group of NAPAWF- St. Cloud leaders to implement an API young women's peer leadership program that will culminate in a teen retreat in the Fall of 2010. This position is a part-time stipended position. Specifically, the Teen Coordinator will have the following duties:

- Develop and implement a peer leadership program for API young women in St. Cloud, MN including recruitment of participants, training, and support of leaders.
- With the peer leaders, develop a weekend teen retreat to address the issues of sexism, racism, isolation, leadership development, and self-esteem for API young women from St. Cloud and/or the Twin Cities area.
- Collaborate with NAPAWF staff and St. Cloud chapter leaders on all aspects of this work.
- Participate in monthly check-ins with NAPAWF staff and provide regular updates and evaluations of the program.

Qualifications:

- BA preferred. Must have some experience working with young people in leadership development, and group building. Some familiarity with youth development preferred.
- Be highly responsible with a strong work ethic and responsive to deadlines. Have excellent organizational and communication skills, be able to work independently, and on a team.
- Have a strong commitment to the issues of API women and girls, health, social justice and human rights.
- Fluent in MS Office and new media skills a plus
